

BEETS INTERNSHIP PROGRAM APPLICATION

2018-2019 School Year

About BEETS

BEETS (Band of Environmentally Educated and Employable Teens) is a paid internship program for teens to develop job skills through our community gardens. All interns receive case management and must attend an orientation and intake.

What do BEETS Interns do?

- Maintain community and school gardens in the Western Addition
- Assist garden education classes for elementary school students
- Attend job training and career development workshops (past workshops include resume & cover letter writing, job search skills, financial literacy, guest speakers)
- Attend field trips (past trips include the farmer's market, camping in the Presidio, Green Gulch Farm, Bi-Rite Market)
- Support CommunityGrows events in the community
- Learn and teach each other about water conservation

Eligibility

- 15-19 years old on November 28, 2018
- Currently living in San Francisco, with priority to Western Addition residents
- Ability to attend all work shifts between November 28, 2018 – May 16, 2019
- Positive work ethic and motivation to succeed
- Legally employable in the United States

Program Structure

- Earn up to $2,200, upon completion of all program requirements.
- 180 hour internship from November 28, 2018 – May 16, 2019
- Work 2-4 days per week:
 - Monday & Wednesday 4:00pm-6:00pm
 - 1-2 Saturdays per month
 - 1 additional weekday shift
- Potential to be re-hired for summer and following years as long as eligibility is met

Locations

We are based out of the John Muir Elementary School at 380 Webster Street. But on some days, you might be asked to work at various locations in the community:

- Koshland Community Garden – Page and Buchanan Streets, SF
- Rosa Parks Elementary School Garden – 1501 O'Farrell St, SF
